Its colonial past has also bequeathed a heritage that features Portuguese, Dutch and British culture and architecture. In the afternoon, walk through the historic districts of town. Our walking tour will take us to Jew Town, including the Pardesi Synagogue (Closed on Fridays & Saturdays); the Mattancherry Palace, known locally as the Dutch Palace (Closed on Fridays); Fort Kochi, reminiscent of European streets and houses; the Chinese Fishing Nets on the northern shore of Fort Kochi; and St Francis Church, near a typical English village green. Enjoy some time observing the fishermen working the nets as the sun sets. In the evening, you will be taken for one-hour Kathakali dance show - the ancient and intriguing dance form of Kerala.

Day : 2 KOCHI – MUNNAR (210km – 5.5 hrs)

Take to the road after breakfast at the hotel, driving inland to Munnar, which is some 1,600 metres above sea level in the Western Ghats Mountains. Pass lush and verdant landscapes, which become progressively more beautiful the higher you climb. On the way, we stop at the Athirapally Waterfalls, one of the most impressive waterfalls in India. These magnificent falls on the River Chalakudy are located at the entrance to Sholayar hill range. This waterfall drops from a height of 25 m (80 ft) and is the biggest waterfall in Kerala. In monsoon season, the water rises gaining power, and the streams join together to lend the falls the nickname of 'The Niagarria of India'. Admire spectacular views of the Sholayar hills and a unique view of the waterfalls from the viewpoint. Continue to Munnar, and on arrival, check in at the hotel with the rest of the afternoon at leisure to explore the small market of this quaint little hill station. Also worth a gander are the street food kiosks, very popular among the locals.

The Silver Tips

Day : 3 MUNNAR

Breakfast at the hotel is followed by a sightseeing tour of Munnar. Nowadays, Munnar is all about the tea industry but its development dates from its days as the cool summer retreat of British administrators in Kerala, and English country cottages are dotted around Munnar town and its hinterland. The surrounding area features rolling hills of virgin forests, scenic valleys, mountain streams, splashy waterfalls and sprawling tea plantations, which seem to go on forever into the horizon. Visit the informative Tea Museum in the Nallathanni Estate to learn more about the process of tea making. The museum has exhibits such as old machinery used for tea production as well as intriguing photographs relating the history of the local industry. A documentary screening also informs about Munnar's tea heritage and how it went from being a rainforest as recently as the 1880s to one of the world's prime tea producing areas. Then visit the CSI Church of Christ. Built by the British in 1910, the church boasts unique architecture for the area, built on a rocky outcrop and displays some lovely stained glass and commemorative brass plaques. The afternoon is at leisure for you to relax at the resort or stroll through the quiet pathways crisscrossing the endless tea plantations.
